Gray admits burning sensitive documents

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III said today he was never directly ordered to destroy sensitive files given to him by John D. Ehrlichman or John W. Dean III "but there was, and is, no doubt in my mind that destruction was intended.

And, he admitted, he read some of the files before burning them.

Gray, who resigned as acting director in April, released the text of his opening statement in advance of his appearance later before the Senate Watergate committee.

In it, he took issue with the testimony of other witnesses including Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters, the deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, who preceded him before the committee.

Gray said he met with Ehrlichman, then the President's domestic adviser, and Dean, then the White House counsel, on June 28-11 days after the break-in at the Watergate offices of the Democratic Party.

"Mr. Ehrlichman said something very to turn over to you," Gray recalled. He said Dean told him two white, manila legal-size folders contained "copies of sensitive and classified papers of a political nature that Howard Hunt had been working on."

"He said that they have national security implications or overtones, have absolutely nothing to do with Watergate and have no bearing on the Watergate investigation whatsoever," Gray added. "Either Mr. Dean or Mr. Ehrlichman said that these files should not be allowed to confuse or muddy the issues in the

Gray said he took the files home, put them on a closet shelf under his shirts; then brought them to his office and into his personal safe two or three weeks later.

Richardson orders Kent State probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson today ordered a new Justice Department investigation of the deaths of four Kent State University students shot by National Guardsmen in

Richardson said his decision was based on "the need to exhaust every potential for acquiring facts related to this tragedy."

He gave no indication whether a federal grand jury would be convened to assist in the probe.

Richardson ordered J. Stanley Pottinger, assistant attorney general in charge of the department's Civil Rights Division, "to pursue the additional inquiry by such means as he feels are appropriately so that we will both be completely satisfied that the department knows as much as can possibly be learned concerning possible violations of federal law."

Richardson reopened the Kent State investigation after studying the findings of Pottinger's preliminary review of existing Richardson initiated the preliminary review on the heels of a White House statement last May which reaffirmed the Aug. 1971 decision by former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to drop the case without a federal grand jury probe. In a statement, Richardson said the resurrection of the investigation "does not mean that we have reason to believe that the prior decision to discontinue active investigation was wrong or made for improper reasons, nor does it mean that we think the additional inquiry is likely to lead to a different prosecutive judgment." However, he said he has found "some areas where an additional inquiry is desirable."

Pottinger had said previously that his initial re-examination showed no substantial allegations that had not been investigated.

The review began at the time a House Judiciary subcommittee disclosed intentions to investigate Mitchell's Mitchell's actions as attorney general came under scrutiny because of his subsequent involvement in the Watergate scandal and other allegations of improprieties.

Presidential counsel Leonard Garment wrote four Kent State students in May that the White House had rejected their plea for a federal grand jury investigation.

Garment said "It is our unanimous judgment if a grand jury were convened it would either bring no indictments, or bring indictments which would only result in Mitchell's decision on Aug. 14, 1971 dismayed the parents of the four slain students and a number of civil rights groups and congressmen.

"To the best of my recollection I removed the files to my home in Stonington, Conn., in late September or early October 1972," Gray said. But his plan to burn the files was postponed because he went to the hospital.

"I distinctly recall that I burned them during Christmas week with the Christmas and household paper trash," he said.

"To this point I had not read or examined the files. But immediately before putting them in the fire I opened one of the files.

It contained what appeared to be copies top secret State Department cablegrams, Gray said.

"I read the first cable. I do not recall the exact language but the text of the cable implicated officials of the Kennedy administration in the assassination of President Diem of South Vietnam. I had no reason then to doubt the authenticity of the 'cable' and was shaken at what I read."

There has been testimony that the cables were forged by Hunt, one of the convicted Watergate conspirators, to falsely link President John F. Kennedy to the

The files had come out of Hunt's White House complex safe, which was opened shortly after he was implicated in the Watergate burglary.

Gray said he thumbed through the other cables in the file, which appeared to be duplicates of the first and "I did not absorb the subject matter of the correspondence and do not today, of my own knowledge, know what it was.

Gray said that on two occasions he specifically asked Dean whether, in his capacity of handling the White House's Watergate inquiry, he would be reporting directly to Nixon, rather than through Ehrlichman or H.R. Haldeman.

"He informed me that he would be reporting directly to the President," Gray

Whereas Walters repeatedly testified House instructions and had told Gray so, the former FBI acting director said he could not remember Walters telling him this, or that he even had talked with the

He said he understood Walters, in saying that the FBI's inquiry might encounter CIA activities, was "stating a CIA position, not a White House message.'

Officials confiscate, destroy beef brought to local store

By RON JENNINGS Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Approximately 1,500 pounds of beef cansported in an unrefrigerated bread truck to the local Kroger Superstore from an undisclosed Kroger store in Kansas was confiscated and ordered destroyed Tuesday by local and state officials. The Democrat-Capital has learned.

One supermarket representative in Sedalia, who is not connected with the case, said the meat, depending on whether it was boneless or regular sides of beef, would have ranged in value from about $1,350 to $2,250.

Erwin Gadd, director of the community sanitation department of the Missouri Division of Health, said the meat was immediately taken to the National Byproducts rendering company, Blackwater, after it was determined to be "old and not stored at proper temperatures." Also, Gadd indicated, the meat was placed on the floor and was not properly protected from contamination.

According to Gadd, temperatures inside the truck were in excess of 50 degrees. Meat transported in refrigerated trucks is normally stored at temperatures not exceeding 45 degrees, he

Gadd said his office was notified Tuesday morning of the uspected violations by officials of the federal Food and Drug Administration regional office in Kansas City. The FDA officials, Gadd said, were in turn notified by a Kansas Division of Health inspector who told them he detected the violations Tuesday morning while routinely inspecting the truck before it left for Sedalia. He supplied the officials with the truck's license number and description.

Because the truck was involved in interstate commerce, Gadd explained, the Kansas official could not confiscate the meat immediately but rather was forced to call the federal officials.

"As soon as we got the word, we sent our man (Fred Enerwehr, a representative of the district office of the Division of Health) to Sedalia," Gadd said. Enerwehr, who was joined in Sedalia by city license inspector Bob Brown, then waited approximately 35 minutes for the truck to arrive at the Kroger store, Gadd said.

Asked if the action was related to the possible efforts of the supermarket to obtain beef in the face of a nationwide meat shortage, Gadd said, "I think these people were just anxious to serve their customers, that's all. Probably the manager of the Kansas store owed the local manager a favor and decided to repay by transporting some extra meat to him.'

Kenneth Haislip, manager of the local Kroger store, would not comment on the case.

Gadd declined to specifically blame the Kroger officials. saying, "It's really just a case of the people not really thinking, that's about all you can say."

Bob Eggleston, meat merchandiser for the St. Louis division ers, declined to comment on the incident except to say, "If they say we're in violation, then I guess we're in violation. Whatever the state says is the law and that's just the Gadd said no criminal action will be taken against the firm.

Emergency rocket readied

Astronauts conduct business as usual aboard their craft

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - It was business as usual for the Skylab 2 astronauts today while launch crews at Cape Kennedy worked around the clock to prepare a rocket for a possible emergency

Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, still hopeful of completing a full 59-day mission despite a problem with their Apollo ferry ship, planned a day of medical, science and earth resources experiments on what originally had been scheduled as a day off.

The first attempt to rescue a crew in space might have to be made if there is more deterioration in the Apollo craft which is to be their taxi back to earth on Sept. 25. Officials said they hoped the rescue try would not be necessary.

The astronauts decided to forego the free day, which would have included their first shower in space, so they could make up for time lost in the first six days of the mission because of motion sickness and problem trouble shooting.

In late morning, Garriot served as commentator for a 15-minute live telecast to Mission Control. He aimed the camera at Bean and Lousma as they worked at an earth resources console and explained what they were doing.

Garriott then relayed pictures taken of the United States through a station window, pointing out such features as a dam in North Dakota, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Atlantic coastline. Commenting on cloud cover over the eastern United States, he said: "As you can see, a manned space station could have great application for weather observation and forecasting." Mission Control passed up a lengthy list of flight plan changes on the Skylab teleprinter, prompting Lousma to remark jokingly: "The teleprinter message this morning is longer than the fireman's The "fireman's pole" is a strap-like handhold that runs the length of the 48-foot workshop section of the orbiting station. Controllers also told them an oft-delayed space walk by Garriott and Lousma would be done on Monday.

The Apollo ship lost half its steering power Thursday and officials at first considered bringing the three astronauts home today in the crippled craft, which is docked to one end of the space station.

But they decided the crew could remain aboard after detailed analysis showed the Apollo should retain its capability to bring them home safely at the scheduled end of the mission.

But as a precaution, launch crews at Cape Kennedy were directed to prepare the Skylab 3 rocket and Apollo spaceship for a possible rescue mission if further trouble developed.

"It's no panic situation. But we do think it prudent to keep a rescue operation capability," said Skylab project manager William Schneider.

In Florida, Kennedy Space Center director Walter Kapryan reported more than 1,000 men had immediately swung into a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week operation to get the vehicles ready in case the rescue mission is necessary.

Unemployment down slightly during July

WASHINGTON (AP) Unemployment in the United States declined slightly to 4.7 per cent of the labor force in July, although the jobless rate for blacks went up sharply, the Labor Department reported today.

Total employment was listed as 84.6 million in July, about the same as in June, while unemployment dropped from 4.3 million in June to 4.2 million in July on a seasonally adjusted basis.

unemployment for white workers declined to 4.1 per cent in July from 4.3 per cent in June, but the jobless rate for blacks and other races rose sharply to 9.3 per cent in July from 8.5 per cent in June. The May jobless rate of blacks and other races was 9.4 per cent.

The administration's goal this year is for a 4.5 per cent total unemployment rate by the end of the year.

The Labor Department said employment was up sharply during July for manufacturing workers, especially workers in durable goods industries where the jobless rate of 3.3 per cent compared with 3.7 per cent in June and was the lowest figure since late 1969.

There were shifts in job status during the month by age category. The unemployment rate for youths 16 to 19 years jumped to 14.4 per cent in July from June's 13.3 per cent rate and unemployment among persons aged 20 to 24 increased from 7.7 per cent to 8 per cent.

But unemployment for persons 25 to 54 years dropped from 3.3 per cent to 3 per The unemployment rate for the heads of households declined from 2.9 per cent to 2.7 per cent, the lowest since April 1970. The rate for adult men and married men also declined slightly.

Revenue sharing funds for county less than anticipated

Pettis County will receive about $36,273 less in federal revenue sharing money than originally anticipated largely because of the increased amount that will go to Sedalia on the basis of increased local sales tax collections, Eastern District Judge E. L. "Red" Birdsong indicated Friday.

According to figures supplied by County Treasurer Virgil Houchens, the county's first two quarterly revenue sharing payments were $55,787, for a total of $111,574. Assuming these figures had remained the same, the county would receive $223,148.

However, Houchens said, according to information accompanying the county's second quarterly check received recently, the county will only receive a total of $75,301 in revenue sharing funds for the remainder of the year. Broken down into the two remaining quarterly payments, the figure stands at $37,650 for each payment. The readjusted 1973 total is $186,185, Houchens said.

Birdsong said the court was advised by Paul Dowd, executive director of the principally Sedalia.

Dowd explained that the county was Because revenue sharing dollars are tax monies since the time they received their last payment. Because no additional funds can be channelled into the county for this purpose, the extra money for the cities must come from the county's share. "It's really hurting us," Birdsong said. "The more they get, the less we get."

City Clerk Ralph Dedrick said the city now expects to receive $538,592 in 1973 revenue sharing funds, an increase of $14,492. He indicated the city expects to collect a total of approximately $850,000 in city sales taxes during the current fiscal year, which began June 1.

Nixon proposes major financial system changes

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon today proposed major changes in the country's financial system, including phasing out interest rate ceilings on savings and other bank deposits over a 51/2year period.

The recommendations include inducements to banks and financial institutions to lend more money for home mortgages by providing a tax credit on the amount of mortgage loans. In addition, savings and loan associations would be able to offer checking account services and the so-called NOW accounts would be authorized for both commercial banks and savings and loan associations. NOW stands for Negotiable Order of Withdrawal and provides for negotiated rates of interests on checking accounts.

There were seven major changes in the financial package released at the White House. They followed a study of the country's financial institutions initiated by the President in 1971.

Deputy Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon said in explaining the proposed changes that the timing is right because "we are in a period that could be classified this moment as an interest rate Simon said he hopes the proposed changes can be ready for presentation to Congress in September and that hearings can be held beginning in October. He described the proposed changes as "the first major restructuring of our financial system since 1865 without a crisis being present." He emphasized at a news briefing that a major goal of the changes is to maintain a flow of deposit money into banks and savings and loan institutions by lifting the interest rate ceilings.

American agency that customarily has sent missionaries to Africa is taking steps to bring African missionaries to black urban areas in the United States

"Urban America's needs are as great or greater than most of the underdeveloped countries of the world." explains Tom Hopler, who is directing the urban ministry of the African Inland Mission AIM.

"I think the other missions ought to wake up to the inner-city mission field." the Rev. Grover Wilcox adds. He is pastor of Newark's Calvary Gospel Church, which is cooperating with Hopler on the AIM urban project.

Like other missions to Africa and other nonindustrial parts of the world, the 75-year-old African Inland Mission traditionally has sent white Americans out as missionaries

But as churches in Africa have developed their own leadership and strength. African Christian leaders have rebelled against Western cultural domi-

So many missions have searched for new directions such as providing technical assistance and turning over the

Sees church role as a fumbling one

By FRANK WETZEL Associated Press Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - A"death-of-God" theologian says Christian churches are fumbling in a vacuum, trying to find an institutional role.

Dr. William Hamilton, now dean of the College of Arts and Letters at Portland State University, published an article on the death of God in the magazine Christian Scholar in 1965 that stimulated a theological On Monday, Tuesday and debate that still continues. annual Lake Creek Camp Wednesday, a ministers' "We

He met recently with a group of interested laymen, answering questions about his 1965 article and whether his ideas have changed since then.

Q. Where is the church to-

A. Well, the church today is bewildered. One of the consequences of the 'death of God' movement was that the church fled the theological issues altogether. It didn't pick up the debate. The mainstream Protestant terminations fled from theology and rushed headlong into relevance and activism. They creatively co-opted the civil rights movement and later the antiwar movement.

Q. Does society do what it wants to do and then create an ethical framework to justify what it is doing, rather than the other way round?

A. Today the fundamental ethical problems of at least the religious and probably the nonreligious imaginations are going to be set by the technological environment

This means the church, among others, is no longer the obviously necessary institution that it was when the ethical problems were simply answers construed out of a tradition ... It means the church has real problems to justify its existence, unless it's simply to move into a new conservatism and new piety, which is now happening. Q. What about Zen Buddhism and its reverence for life and that type of morality - does it have anything to say to us?

A. The only real injunction the Zen tradition has about being in the world is that the adept in Buddhism has the option, if the master so decides that he can do it, of trying to bring the satori experience to somebody else - being a kind of little Buddha ..

Judge probably won't rule on bombing today

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas indicated he probably would not rule today on a case involving an effort to halt U.S. bombing in Cambodia by court action.

Interrupting a Cascade Mountains vacation, Douglas indicated as he entered the courtroom that he might, instead, consult with the full Supreme Court.

Douglas is being asked to overturn an order blocking a lower federal court ruling that the bombing is unconstitutional. If Douglas overturns the stay, it would mean the bombing must stop.

The hearing, coming 12 days before a congressionally imposed bombing halt is to take effect anyway, is the second by a Supreme Court justice on an American Civil Liberties Union suit.

Wednesday Justice Thurgood Marchall

Wednesday, Justice Thurgood Marshall refused to overturn the stay issued by the Circuit Court of Appeals in New York. That court's stay blocked a lower U.S. District Court ruling that the bombing is unconstitutional and must be stopped.

Before Friday's hearing started Douglas said that when one justice denies a stay and the same case goes to another justice, the second—in this case Douglas—usually consults with the full court.

Man is injured during a scuffle

Donald Salmons, 40, 334 West Saline, was taken to Bothwell Hospital shortly after midnight Friday morning after being slashed by a knife in what was reported to be a fight behind the Horseshoe Bar, 421 South Engineer.

According to police reports, Salmons sustained a large scalp laceration and a cut over the right eye. He reportedly told police that he did not know who cut him.

Roger Leech, 2703 Clarendon Road, told police that he was working on his truck at home about 6 p.m. Thursday evening when he heard a shot ring out and a bullet reportedly flew by his head. Leech told police that he then went into his house and heard two more shots. Police officers were not able to determine who fired the shots. No one was injured in the incident.

A tool box full of tools valued at $350 was taken from the rear of a truck owned by James Atkins, 21, 1902 South Ingram, it was reported.

Atkins told police that the tool box was on the back of the truck at 4 p.m. Wednesday but was gone when he checked again at 1 a.m. Thursday morning. The truck was unlocked.

Several incidents of gasoline thefts from a local business were reported to Sedalia police this week.

Norman Trautman, Route 2, told police early Tuesday that 50 gallons of gas had been taken from storage facilities belonging to A-G Co-op on Clinton Road. Trautman said thieves had been obtaining the gas by breaking locks on the storage tanks.

Dan Staus, Route 5, another company employe, reported early Thursday another 50-gallon theft had occurred between closing Wednesday and Thursday morning.

closing Wednesday and Thursday morning.

Trautman said the firm has experienced several such incidents in recent weeks.

Condition of injured girl is said good

COLUMBIA — The condition of Linda Davis, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis, Houstonia, was listed as good Friday by her mother, who said the girl, undergoing treatment at the University of Missouri Medical Center here for a severe laceration to the right arm, may be home in a few days.

The Davis girl suffered the injury July 24 in front of the Worley Grocery Store in Houstonia when she fell on a soft drink bottle she was carrying. The main artery in the arm was severed, as were two nerves. Mrs. Davis said her daughter now has some feeling in her hand, but may never regain full use of her arm.

Mrs. Davis told The Democrat-Capital that after the girl returns home, she must go back to the medical center for further surgery to repair nerve darnage. Therapy will also be required, she said, to restore partial use of the arm.

Mrs. Davis gave the primary credit for saving her daughter's life to Don Carver, Houstonia, who administered on-the-scene first aid. His efforts were later augmented by Sgt. Douglas G. Habbershaw and A1C Richard W. Powell of Whiteman AFB. The two airmen notified the base of the accident and base officials in turn called an ambulance. Houstonia was without telephone service at the time of the accident.

According to Mrs. Davis, "No one knew what to do. He (Carver) took over and he really saved her life." The Davis girl was first treated at Sweet Springs Community Hospital before being transferred to the medical center.

"Tell everybody that Linda really appreciates what everybody's done," Mrs. Davis told The Democrat-Capital.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon accused Congress today of "abandonment of a friend" by cutting off funds for U.S. bombing in Cambodia by Aug. 15.

In a letter to Congress, the President said he wants Cambodia to know "we will continue to provide all possible support permitted under the law."

"North Vietnam would be making a very dangerous error if it mistook the cessation of bombing in Cambodia for an invitation to fresh aggression or further violations of the Jan. 27 Vietnam cease-fire Paris agreements," Nixon's letter said.

"The American people would respond to such aggression with appropriate action," it said.

Nixon secluded at mountaintop retreat today

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon was in the seclusion of his mountaintop retreat at Camp David today, working on what was understood to be a range of matters from the Watergate affair to pending legislation.

Nixon got an unexpectedly early start on his weekend, helicoptering to Camp David Thursday afternoon.

It was the first time since his recent hospitalization for viral pneumonia that the President took a long weekend. He has been following his doctor's orders to get in more rest and relaxation only "to some extent," according to deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren.

The President was understood to be getting into some aspects of his planned public response to the Watergate affair. The White House has said it will be made at the end of the first phase of testimony at the Senate hearings.

There was still no indication of exactly when or how the President will address the Watergate scandals. But it was possible he might be making that decision this weekend. Many of his important decisions have been made in this secluded mountaintop retreat, where the President says he can work best.

Warren said that the President expected no official visitors over the weekend and probably would return to Washington Sunday night.

Back at the White House, Mrs. Nixon and daughter Julie Eisenhower were entertaining members of the Bolshoi Ballet from Moscow at an afternoon tea.

Proponents of farm bill fight ambush

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proponents of the farm bill, including big labor, sought to keep the bill from being ambushed in the House today by critics of subsidies for rich farmers or opponents of food stamps for strikers.

Strategy sessions took place throughout the House side of Capitol Hill Thursday in parliamentary maneuvering that could mean life or death for the Senate-passed compromise farm and food stamp bill.

Mindful that any controversial amendment could destroy terms already accepted by the Senate, the bill's defenders were expected to push for only minor changes they feel would be acceptable to the Senate. They hope to cut off possible moves by House critics for major revisions. "If we can't beat their motion, we're sunk," said Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill.

Findley said he wanted to put into the compromise a "loophole-closing provision" aimed at keeping wealthy cotton farmers from leasing or selling part of their allotments as a means of escaping the bill's new $20,000 per farmer annual subsidy limit.

Meanwhile, Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., was expected to press for his amendment banning food stamps for most strikers. The House originally passed it 213 to 207.

Senate-House conferees broke up in disagreement on the Dickinson amendment after resolving 110 other points of conflict between the earlier versions of separate Senate and House farm bills.

The four-year compromise bill would change the computation of cotton and grain price supports to a "target price" concept. This would remain at a constant $2.05 a bushel for wheat, $1.38 a bushel for corn and 38 cents a pound for cotton during 1974 and 1975.

Diabetes group to hold drive

The Sedalia-Pettis County Diabetes Association, a branch of the Central Missouri Diabetes Association, will conduct a fund-raising drive at three downtown intersections and three shopping center locations Saturday.

Mrs. Sharon Fisher, secretary, said proceeds from a garage sale at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Mosier, 1417 South Park, will also be contributed to the Missouri State Diabetes Education Center and Camp at Hermann, Mo.

Collections in the downtown areas will be made at the intersections of Third and Lamine; Fourth and Osage and Third and Kentucky.

In addition to collectors posted on the sidewalks, wishing wells will be located at Bings in the State Fair Shopping Center; Lorene's Card and Gift Shop in the Thompson Hills Shopping Center; and at the Kroger store.

One man injured in highway mishap

A Creighton, Mo., man, David Anthony Simkus, 29, was injured Thursday morning in a two truck accident on Highway 52, one mile west of Highway 127. According to the Highway Patrol, Simkus was the driver of a pickup truck and was going east on Highway 52 when he met a large truck in the middle of a bridge. Simkus reportedly drove too close to the right side of the bridge and sideswiped the guard railing, causing him to lose control. The truck overturned in the roadway forcing a westbound 1973 International truck, driven by Kenneth Greene, 47, Sedalia, into the opposite railing.

Simkus was taken to Golden Valley Hospital in Clinton. He had suffered a broken right arm, broken left hand and lacerations to the face and right knee.

Greene was not injured

At least 40 persons perish in hotel blaze

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — A fire roared through a crowded seven-story hotel and entertainment center on the Douglas seafront Thursday night, killing at least 40 men, women and children and injuring 80.

Police Chief Frank Weedon said the death toll would probably go higher as workers searched the upper floors of the Summerland, a multi-milliondollar "Coney Island under one roof" of bars, dance halls and hotel rooms.

Floor manager L. Shaffer said it was believed the inferno was set off by a child playing with matches on a balcony. Within minutes the flames engulfed the building, which was crowded with more than 2,000 people.

Firemen reached the scene almost immediately and began pumping water from the sea, but it was two hours before the fire was brought under control.

Thirty of the injured were in critical

It was the worst tragedy in memory to hit this holiday island midway between England and Northern Ireland. Telephone lines from Britain and Ireland were jammed throughout the night with calls from anxious relatives of vacationers.

Summerland was completed in 1971 on a 3½-acre site at the north end of the sea front at Douglas. Last year it accounted for 13 per cent of the island's tourist revenue.

partner in financing the construction.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — More than $2.5 million was given to Missouri today by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for funding of a nutrition program under the Older Americans Act.

The money will provide up to 90 per cent of the cost of establishing and operating nutrition projects to provide low cost, nutritional meals to persons 60 years old or over. If the husband is at least 60, the wife also can participate regardless of her age. If the wife is 60, her husband also can participate if he happens to be 58.

The Older Americans Act is administered by the Missouri Office of Aging in the Department of Community Affairs.

The meals for the elderly will be provided at community senior centers.

"Besides promoting better health through improved nutrition, the program also is aimed at reducing isolation," said Willis Marshall, director of the state Office of Aging. "In addition to the priority which must be given low income older persons, minority group older persons must be served at least in proportion to their numbers of eligible individuals in the state."

Judge to rule on beef price freeze removal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A federal judge in San Francisco says he will rule shortly on a suit asking for removal of the beef price freeze the meat industry claims is damming supplies and picking off its operations.

More meat packing plants announced shutdowns Thursday, in Pennsylvania, California, Texas and Nebraska.

"We haven't closed this plant in 25 years," said William Hughes, president of King Meat Packing Co. in Vernon, Calif., one of six packing plants there that announced they were closing.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert F.

Dr. Willard Williams, a Texas Tech University economist specializing in livestock and meat, said cattle prices have increased because of higher feed grain costs and that growers are withholding cattle in anticipation of even higher prices

Williams said the slaughter of cattle is down 30 per cent and the amount of cattle going to feeder lots is down 11 per cent.

On Thursday, the Senate voted 84 to 5 on a measure to remove the freeze on beef prices. The measure goes now to the House.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., would allow retailers to pass on to the consumer any increases in the raw-agricultural-product costs of beef incurred since June 8.

A spokesman for the Western States

Meat Packers Association said "by next week, meat packing plants will be operating at only 60 per cent of normal, which means production will be down one third from this week."

The cost and shortage of beef has led to a rise in the number of complaints about cattle rustling. Cattlemen from northern Idaho to southern Utah and from the

Plains to Nevada are claiming that the Health program given favorable evaluation

The WESCENMO health care program for children, headquartered in Sedalia as one of four, three-year test programs in the nation, received a favorable evaluation from two Fepresentatives of the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP), Stephen Laslo, project administrator, said Thursday.

10 Laslo said the representatives expressed opleasure with the direction of the endeavor. but did voice some concern with the number prof patients handled by the program and the project's ability to generate self-sustaining

Lazlo also said he was informed the program would receive $75,000 from the federal government through the AAP about Aug. 15, or the remaining allotment required to operate the program through February, bal974, the end of WESCENMO's fiscal year.

He explained the federal money currently supporting the project is referred to as seed money, which is used to neip project operate until it can support itself.

The two representatives, Dr. Walter 2 Campbell, director of communications services, and Richard Zandstra, compliance officer of the AAP, located in Evanston, Ill., said it was up to "local people to set the course" of the WESCENMO project, according to Lazlo, who explained that the men indicated local people could best administer a local program.

Lazlo said the AAP inspectors suggested WESCENMO investigate raising funds through patient fees, Medicare aid and thirdparty payments such as those from insurance

The program has treated about 1,000 persons in five months, Lazlo said. He added that the AAP officials saw this as not a dramatic beginning, but one pointed in the right direction.

He added that, the endeavor was experiencing some difficulty in drawing in medical resources, but that progress was being made in that regard.

"We feel we've really turned the corner," necessary from citizens in the 13-county area the project serves in order for it to become financially solvent.

New P.A. program is explained

Buck Doane, the first physician's assistant (P.A.) in Sedalia, explained his job to Sedalia Kiwanians at the Bothwell Hotel Thursday.

Doane, who works for Dr Jerry Block, an internist, said the P.A. program is one partial answer to the shortage of doctors. He said the P.A., by gathering data and information about a patient and ordering lab and X-ray tests in some cases, can free the physician from routine tasks and speed up the process of rendering medical

The P.A. program was begun at Duke University, Doane said, and has since spread to other schools and hospitals. He said there are three classes of P.A.'s, depending upon training and qualifications.

Doane said there is proposed legislation that would allow P.A.'s to work in hospitals in Missouri, which they are currently prohibited from

Dr. Joe Bennett introduced the program.

Dear Ann Landers: I felt a strong kinship with the woman who wrote that she blushed all day and couldn't face her boss because of the dreams she was having about him. Your advice. "Get another job." was sound. I hope she takes it. I was in the same spot ten years ago and where I got the strength to walk out of that office is more than I will ever know. Today I have a fine husband and family and my wonderful ex-boss's family is intact. It might not have been had I stayed around

It's easy to fall in love with a man you see every day. especially if he is attractive and successful. A secretary can make herself "indispensable." She can also be more interesting to a man than his wife. A secretary and boss have so much to talk about that has nothing to do with problems children, in-laws, repair bills and other troublesome and boring topics.

I hope the secretaries out there who find their bosses dangerously appealing will take this letter seriously. The minute you feel yourself falling, girls, clean out your desk and leave. - Glad I Did are. Preventive medicine is infinitely less expensive and less genuine as you thought painful than a cure. Thanks for telling it like it is.

Dear Ann Landers: What is real friendship? The longer I live, the less I'm sure. We lived in a Midwestern city for 20 years. Six couples in our circle were very close.

Eight years ago we moved East. We have invited every one of these couples to visit us. Not one has. We've written dozens of letters and made countless long-distance phone calls. A handful have acknowledged the letters. No one has ever phoned us. We wouldn't know they were alive if it weren't for the Christmas cards and periodic rash of "invitations" to birthday celebrations. anniversary parties, the graduation announcements. weddings of their children, and now the christenings of their grandchildren. This week I received six.

Both my husband and I feel that our old friends have given no indication they really care about us. We've decided to ignore all the mailing pieces. Are we wrong? - Even Up

It is possible to feel warmly about people you haven't seen for many years, but friendships must be tended like gardens and people take care of the things they really care about.

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding the photographic buff who wants to enter a nude picture of his wife in a local art contest:

Many centuries ago Herodotus wrote of a Persian King who had a very beautiful wife. He was so proud of her body that he invited his best friend to hide behind the draperies in their bedroom. The friend was delighted.

The Queen became aware of the plan. On that extraordinary night she manufactured an excuse to send the King on an errand. When he left she told his friend. "When the King returns, either you will kill him and marry me and become King or I will scream and order the guards to kill you.'

That's how Persia got a new King. - History Buff

Rustling increases

Leon Thelen, left, St. Johns, Mich., shows Clinton County Sheriff Anthony Hufnagel where cattle rustlers cut a hole in his fence recently and made off with six head of beef. Thefts in the county have amounted to around $7,000 since the first incidents were reported in April. So far rustlers in the area have made off with 37 head of cattle, five hogs, two sheep and a prize ram. (UPI)

WESCENMO meets area health needs been on the job for five months now, is generally performing as hoped, an evaluation team found here this week.

WESCENMO is a rural pediatric health project covering 13 West Central Missouri counties, and is based in Sedalia. The program, funded with a $150,000 grant from the Office of Economic Central Missouri. The problem is Opportunity, is the first of its kind in the nation.

The idea was hatched by the Missouri chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics, which was prompted by Dr. Robert Edmonds. local pediatrician. The AAP sent two representatives to Sedalia Wednesday to evaluate the work so far. According to Steve Laslo, WESCENMO director, the team's findings were favorable, although some concern was voiced as to local financial support for the program and the number of children treated.

WESCENMO has undertaken a big task - reaching an estimated 10,000 children in the 13-county

Project WESCENMO, which has at present. The emphasis is on preventive medicine, realizing that unhealthy children grow into unhealthy adults, and that there is no such thing as dealing too soon with health problems.

> Speaking before a local civic club recently, Laslo said there are many "severe" unmet health needs among children in rural West compounded by the difficulties of transportation in remote areas and the reluctance of some rural people to take advantage of the program.

WESCENMO treats all children. regardless of means, and accepts whatever parents can afford to pay. The program is funded by a diminishing grant with the hope of making it self-supporting by 1976.

From what we've seen and heard of WESCENMO, we think it is a badly needed program. Too often the emphasis in federal projects has been limited to the needs of urban America, with those of rural dwellers taking the back seat.

Project WESCENMO can be an area who in many cases are not effective means of caring for these receiving even minimal health care all-too-often forgotten Americans.

WASHINGTON — There is grave danger that stolen nuclear weapons may fall into the hands of terrorists, Mafia gangsters, black marketeers or perhaps some lone psychopath with megalomaniac visions of an atomic hijack.

This specter of whole cities in jeopardy from bootleg weapons is not the pipedream of a doom-minded science fiction writer. Rather, it is the finding of prestigious Ford Foundation scientists in a 575-page draft report stamped with warnings against public release.

"It is all too easy to imagine innumberable possibilities for nuclear diversion — a parade of horribles." declares the hush-hush document. "One individual could derive, from published information, a way for him working along, to build a simple fission explosive device."

Given Yankee ingenuity at building everything from rockets to steam engines to heroin laboratories in garages, says the report, "we would guess there are at least many thousands of persons who could make a fission explosive device if they wanted to and possessed the requisite nuclear material." Construction would take only "a few weeks."

"The only equipment required beyond what is commonly available for home workshop use would be . . . ordinary Geiger counter (and) protective hoods," states the Ford Foundation document.

The nuclear materials needed for the weapons are poorly safeguarded and will become increasingly available as plutonium-breeding plants are constructed to replace conventional generators.

"By 1980, tens of thousands of kilograms of nuclear weapon materials will be present in the U.S. nuclear power industry," warns a report. Not too many grams are needed to make a bomb that could kill hundreds of thousands.

The device itself, says the report, might be constructed by a single corrupt scientist. a band of outlaw engineers or a nuclear

"If present trends continue, it seems only a question of time before som terrorist group exploits the possibilities for coercion which are latent in nuclear fuel." warns the report. Already, a Florida extortionist has tried to use an imaginary nuclear weapon to extort $1 million from a

There is every indication that terrorists would be "quite willing to resort to unlimited violence." Even if the terrorists hesitated to set off a nuclear device, they might peddle stolen or homemade nukes to black marketeers for funds or use them for blackmail.

"Theft of a large amount of nuclear material would not only acquire for the terrorist group a significant capability.' says the document, "but . . . could generate widespread anxiety (in) the country where it occurred (and) in a country or countries against which the group's activities might be aimed ultimately."

The Mafia, suggests the report, may want nuclear weapons not only for black marketing and ransom deals, but to place themselves "beyond the reach of law enforcement authorities.'

With nukes in the possession of the Mafia, a community could be forced to back off from criminal prosecutions "against a broad range of lucrative criminal operations."

"In order to employ such a deterrent, the criminal group possessing such a weapon would have to be willing to inflict largescale, indiscriminate harm on society.' The two famed professors who authored the report, Theodore Taylor and Mason Willrich, do not need to point out that the Mafia has no qualms about such "largescale" harm - as evidenced by the lethal narcotics trade.

The criminal mastermind behind the Mob Bomb might be sent to a fine graduate school by the syndicate to hone his knowledge, or the "group might recruit or kidnap" a specialist.

"A foreign government might be willing to host a clandestine manufacturing operation" so the Mafia family could "maintain a small stockpile of weapons for its own protection," the report says.

Taylor and Willrich say it is possible that political factions in a foreign government might buy a bomb to blackmail its way into power. But even in these days of Watergate, the scientists don't believe the Republicans or Democrats in the United States would use such "election" tactics.

The report deals extensively with potential black markets whose nuclear wares would be available to everyone from cranks to military adventurers.

"An initial sale or two of nuclear weapons to petty dictators with dreams of glory might enable the operators in a nuclear black market to play on the fears of more responsible leaders . . . Like the risks of nuclear diversion, the dimensions of a nuclear black market are potentially global."

What does the Ford Foundation foresee as the possible grim outcome of nuclear thievery?

"The costs of evacuation and decontamination of several square kilometers of urban or intensively cultivated agricultural area by a few grams of dispersed, finely divided plutonium would be tens of hundreds of millions of

"The hundreds of thousands of people who might be killed by controlled dispersal of plutonium, or tens of thousands . . . who might be killed by a low yield nuclear explosion in a very densely populated area represent incalculable but immense costs . . .

Footnote: Despite strict secrecy stamps put on the draft document by the Ford Foundation, the authors make clear in the text they want it eventually released to the public. In a future column, we will outline the present lack of safeguards against nuclear theft and the authors' proposed

Pick of summer reading

BY DOUG KNEIBERT

This is the time of year that every. newspaper runs its selections for a summer reading list. I have been giving this some thought, and would like to pass on a few titles that I have found interesting

With Watergate so much in the news, it's only natural that a flood of books should follow. My pick of the lot:

"The Collected Witticisms of John Ehrlichman." A breezy look at this engaging personality.

"Aspects of the Lawyer-Client Relationship," by John Dean III. A little heavy, but a needed work in the field.

Gray III. Warm reminiscences of the onetime acting director of the FBI "Legal Foundations of American Government," by Herbert Kalmbach. A scholarly study of the rule of law as applied to the Democratic system "Mexico on $365,000 a Day." by Maurice Stans. A travel book that's different-a must for those who really want to get to know the country. "The Lighter Side of John Mitchell." personal glimpses of a warm and sensitive human being.

"My Friends in Washington," by Patrick

"Everything You've Wanted to Ask About Watergate But Were Afraid To Know," by Richard Nixon. The definitive work in the field. Another fine book along these lines: "John Dean, a Personal Memory," also by Nixon.

For those of a scientific bent, we have "Bugs of North America." by James McCord, and an exhaustive work just off the press: "A Descriptive Anatomy of the Oral Cavity," by Martha Mitchell, richly illustrated.

Moving on, here's a big summer favorite: "Playing the Commodity Market." by Earl Butz. An easy-to-understand guide to buying and selling.

If you are a chef be sure to pick up "My Favorite Beef Dishes," by John Paul Getty.

Continuing with the always popular "how-to" books, we come to "The Techniques of Price Controls," by George Shultz. Phases I through IV in a combined edition.

"My Friends of the Press," by Ron Ziegler, promises to be especially big this summer. Introduction by Carl Bernstein and Robert Woodward of the Washington

Here we are only about 62 weeks from the 110th anniversary of the Battle of Sedalia and still no one has bothered to think about putting up a marker.

A couple of years ago I wrote a two-part piece on the capture of Sedalia by Confederate forces on Oct. 15, 1864. I made the modest proposal that an historical marker, perhaps on the spot where the old fort stood, would be appropriate.

So far the silence has been as deafening as one of old Jeff Thompson's six-pounders going off. We stand by the idea, though, as one whose time has come.

Today's thoughts

"Is not your fear of God your confidence. and the integrity of your ways your hope?"

"Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day." - Matthew 6:34.

I never think of the future. It comes soon enough - Albert Einstein.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Down one unnecessarily

By Oswald & James Jacoby

West's two no-trump was one of those unusual no-trump bids that have been achieving popularity. It showed long minor suits and little defense against his opponents.

The bid didn't keep South from getting to four spades. In fact it might have helped him on his merry way.

South won the first club; led a trump to the king and another one back to his ace. When the suit failed to break he cashed the queen, tried a successful heart finesse; cashed the ace; ruffed a heart and conceded down one since the hearts had failed to break also.

North was unhappy with his partner and wanted to know why South hadn't finessed against East's jack of trumps. North pointed out that West had shown great minor suit length.

We agree with North that South's play left a lot to be de-sired, but not with North's analysis.

South's start was fine. He didn't go wrong until he cashed the queen of trumps. He should have taken the heart finesse then; cashed the heart ace; ruffed a heart; led a diamond to dummy's ace; ruffed another heart and led a club or diamond.

He would have eight tricks in hand and would be sure to make two more with his queen and 10 of trumps.

Chiefs, Saints clash in opener

(Democrat-Capital Service)

KANSAS CITY — With a number of new faces, a major share of them already proven performers in the National Football League, the Kansas City Chiefs begin the 1973 season Saturday night, when they take on the New Orleans Saints in Arrowhead. It will mark the second season for the Chiefs in magnificent Arrowhead Stadium and their 11th season in Kansas City.

It's also the first time the Chiefs have opened at home in the pre-season since 1961 when, as the Dallas Texans, they played the New York Titans in Dallas.

The Chiefs will host four straight pre-season opponents in Arrowhead before they hit the road for windup pre-season encounters with Dallas and St. Louis.

"We will go into this pre-season with the same philosophy we've always had: 1) to win; 2) to play as many people as possible and still win; 3) to improve artistically through the preseason." Head coach Hank Stram indicated that he wants to play his back-up people as much as possible during the first six contests this season. "We have to see if we can win with these people as well as our regulars." he said. "We are fortunate to have experienced people, who have played in the NFL, playing behind our regulars at almost every position. It is very important." noted the Chiefs head coach, "for us to maintain a high emotional level, enthusiasm and intensity. We must have a certain amount of luck as far as injuries are concerned, and it is imperitive that we score more points offensively.

During the off-season, Stram did more dealing than ever before. The results are 12 new faces in training camp, all of them proven performers in the NFL. Seven of these veterans are offensive players - tackle Francis Peay (from Green Bay); runningbacks Max Anderson (Buffalo); Willie Ellison (Los Angeles); Jim "Cannonball" Butler (Atlanta) and Leroy Keyes (Philadelphia); quarterback Pete Beathard (Los Angeles); and wide receiver John Embree (Denver).

Five of the new faces are defensive candidates - defensive tackle George Seals (acquired from Chicago last season). defensive lineman Ernie Calloway (Philadelphia), defensive lineman Frank Cornish (Miami), defensive end Pat Holmes (Houston) and defensive back Fletcher Smith (Cincinnati).

Calloway, who came to the Chiefs along with Keyes from the es in exchange for defensive end Gerry Philbin, will not be ready for the start of the season. He was placed in the reserve-unable to perform - category earlier in the week and will not be able to join the club until October 15, at which time the physical status of his injured knee will be tested.

Quarterback Len Dawson will open his 17th season of professional football and his 12th with Stram and the Chiefs. "After 16 years in professional football, one might think that perhaps the 17th year would be a drag," said Dawson at the start of training camp. "But. I can tell you that I look forward to this season. I think the Kansas City Chiefs have a great opportunity to come back and win it all. The caliber of talent in the National Football League is so superior today to what it was when I first came into the league. The players are bigger, stronger, faster, smarter and better coached in high school, college and the

Moore picks up 3rd win of the year over Cards

MONTREAL (AP) - Balor Moore has always liked the St. Louis Cardinals even before he came into the National League.

"It's really funny." Moore was saying Thursday night after he pitched a four-hitter to boost the Montreal Expos to a

When I was pitching in high school, the one team that made me really sit up and take notice was the Cards.

"I liked their style, I liked the city and the people-I was kind of hoping they'd draft

Well, the Cards didn't and Moore became Montreal prop-

Moore's shutout victory was only his fifth of the year against 10 losses. Three of the five wins have been at St. Louis' expense.

What makes the feat more remarkable is the fact that Moore just returned to Montreal Wednesday from a twoweek sojourn in the International League

The lanky southpaw was sent to the Peninsula Whips. Montreal's Class AAA farm team. July 16 because he could not get the ball across the plate. He was experiencing control difficulties and walking more than one man an inning "When Gene Mauch (Expos' manager) sent me down two weeks ago I didn't look at it as if I was being exiled and would never be heard from again." Moore said.

"I was going down there for a while to work on my pitching and to learn how to be comfortable on the mound all over

"I don't feel bad about it one bit-let's face it-I wasn't doing the job here when I left but things started to come along in Peninsula and I feel much bet-

Sporting glasses for the first time ever because he couldn't see the back of the plate. Moore took to the mound in the first inning and the first of five Expos' double plays got the machinery going.

Ted Sizmore was on first base with one out when Joe Torre came up and slashed a wicked line drive to right field.

First baseman Mike Jorgensen leaped high into the air to spear the ball and had no trouble at all catching Sizemore off first for the unassisted twin killing.

Expos' lead-off man Ron

Hunt then went to work on Cardinals' Tom Murphy in the bottom of the inning

Hunt led off with a single-he was to get three and a walk for a perfect night-and moved to second on the first of three sacrifice bunts by Jorgensen.

One out later. Ken Singleton scored Hunt with a base hit to

After killing a Cardinal threat in the second with another double play. Montreal got an insurance run in the third.

Hunt again led off with a hit. Jorgensen sacrificed him to second. Hunt stole third and crossed the plate in Jim Lyttle's single.

Moore struck out four and walked two while Murphy gave up only five hits in losing his fourth game in six decisions.

Head over heels

Oakland first baseman Gene Tenace is knocked flying by Minnesota's Tony Oliva after Tenace tried to glove a wild throw by centerfielder Bill North, Oliva had to scamper back to first atter making a wide turn toward second.

Oliva made it to second safely after the ball got past Tenace. Oakland's 6-3 setback knocked them out of a firstplace tie in the AL's western division standings with Kansas City.

Proposes permanent legislation

Mcdonald confident blackout bill will be in force for '73 season

Torbert H. Macdonald, chairman of the House subcommittee on communications. says he's convinced Congress will ban televised blackouts of home professional football games which have been sold

Macdonald, a Massachusetts Democrat, said Thursday he also intends to write his legislation to make the ban permanent and not a one-year experiment as proposed in a bill sponsored by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I. "We'll have it in time for the upcoming season."

said Macdonald after three days of hearings.

The hearings will be reconvened after the congressional recess which begins today and will run through Labor Day.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League is expected to be the primary witness when the hearings resume. along with Bowie Kuhn, commissioner of baseball.

Contrasting arguments were heard on the final day from Walter Kennedy, National Basketball Association commissioner, and representatives of the broadcasting industry, in-cluding Carl Lindemann Jr., vice president in charge of sports at the National Broadcasting Co.

Kennedy said enactment of the legislation would be serious miscarriage of justice.

"To take away the home territory blackout authority which went with the authorization to sell a league package, either by repealing it or by imposing onerous conditions, would seriously injure the ability of professional sports to continue extensive telecasting and of sharing revenues with the poorer teams," he said.

On the other hand, Lindemann said NBC supports the legislation because "we oppose restrictions on the ability of free over-the-air television to present sports events to the viewing public.'

Lindemann disagreed with some previous network representatives who testified that they believed that moving sports events especially pro football, to pay television. loomed on the horizon.

DATSUN 32 V DS

With a new kind of luxury.

Ah, the traditional sports car. Crisp shifts. Wind in the face...rain in the ear. And the cost! It was a mixed blessing.

Our 240-Z has unmixed it. With around 20 miles per gallon economy. With inexpensive parts delivered fast by a nationwide computerized system. And with luxurious list of standard equipment: AM/FM with electric antenna, reclining seats, tinted glass and more.

The days of iron men, wooden frames and unlimited budgets are gone. We thought you'd like it that way.

Gasoline treatment rids yard of moles

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — To get rid of moles in our yard we dig down in the mound of dirt, pour gasoline in the hole and then cover it with dirt and flatten the mound. One half-cup of gasoline should be plenty. This has worked wonders for us. If I get a Polly Dollar it will be used to buy more gasoline in case my neighbors run the moles back into my yard. -LUCILLE

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY - I read the column every day and find it very helpful but now have a personal problem of my own which I hope will be answered by some of the readers. I would like to clean some hand-painted oil pictures at home and hope someone has a do-it-yourself method. — H.M.A.

DEAR POLLY - My Pet Peeve is with the truly wash-andwear garments that have zippers. Unless a garment is very expensive the material shrinks just a little, perhaps not more than 1 per cent, but that is just enough to cause the zipper to pucker like a roller coaster. Somewhere along the line of manufacturing the cloth should coincide with the expected amount of shrinkage in the zipper. I do not think the zippers stretch. This does not happen in my homemade garments. -

DEAR POLLY - I am answering Helen who is having trouble with dye left on her rug from a serviceman's shoes. That problem can be prevented by simply placing an old carpet in the path around her television set. Also, may I please ask that she and the other women remove items from the top of the TV and from close around it to enable the man to work without worrying about breaking something. - A TV SERVICEMAN

DEAR POLLY - I want to tell the other gals about the way I rejuvenated my old chrome kitchen dining suite. The pieces were marked and rusted and no amount of cleaning did much good. I painted all the chrome on the table and the chair frames with a matte black antirust paint. It covered everything beautifully and when dry looked like wrought iron. The vinyl covering on the chairs was faded but in generally good condition and the couple of splits were covered with masking tape. This was all painted over with upholstery paint two chairs yellow and two orange. It all looks like a completely different suite. A printed tablecloth that continues the color scheme added the finishing touch but I am going to eventually cover the table top with that adhesive backed fabric-like paper that can be used for such purposes. I do hope this helps someone who is distressed over shabby looking furniture. - LYNDA

DEAR POLLY - I read the column daily and amsometimes amazed at things folks get upset about but then I try to put myself in their shoes. This is a little game I play with myself to keep from feeling too "holier than thou." Several weeks ago a woman wrote that she could not get the lint off a rug made of one of those new types of materials. I have a similar one and thought it was so pretty when I bought it and it is still pretty, when clean. I tried static free brooms and damp sponges and anything else I thought would help. One day I had on tennis shoes with crepe rubber soles and happened to rub my feet across the rug - up came the lint. I now use them for that purpose and even in my front room where the dog and cat hairs are stubborn. The shoe sole rolls them up and then I can easily pick up the ball. -GERALDINE us with lung trouble, and how smokers hurt those who don't smoke? It was my first plane trip and we went to California. I did fine and enjoyed our granddaughter's wedding, but couldn't stay for fear the smog there would cause trouble. In fact, all the time we stayed for two weeks there was no smog where we were. In many stores they have no smoking signs. Coming back by jet I had a bad spell, but medicine and help was there.

Dear Dr. Lamb - Can I say row just in front of the smoking something about us non-smokers, and how bad it is for section the smoke from the seats behind you will drift up directly to your area.

We stopped in Dallas to wait for the plan to go to Texarkana, Arkansas. All was fine until we were airborne, then came the bombing of smokers so bad that I had to use the oxygen to help me breathe, but seeing me struggle to breathe, a man across said, "Can I help you," as he blew a cloud of smoke into my face which almost made me die. To make the story short, I had to spend two weeks in the hospital after the trip in the airplane. I was under oxygen for 12 hours so my lungs could breathe on their own. I have cancer all over and my lungs are now getting bad. Why couldn't I have enjoyed my first and maybe my last trip? Tell this to the people who smoke in the planes, please.

Dear Reader - Your point is well taken. Even dividing the planes into smoking and no smoking sections doesn't eliminate the real hazard that individuals with medical problems have during air travel. In fact, if you're in the people who smoke appreciate how they are infringing on other people's rights, and even their health. Your case is a good example. There are a number of people who travel by air who have medical problems, such as asthma or severe allergies, who simply cannot tolerate tobacco smoke. One individual's freedom should stop where the other person's begins. The right to breathe clean air during public transportation is surely where the next person's freedom begins.

Dear Dr. Lamb - I have a bone out of place in the upper part of my back. I've had this for over a year, and it never gave me very much trouble before. One time I stretched with my arm over my head and I got a sharp pain in my chest that went up to my ear. I felt dizzy, weak, and nauseated, and short of breath. I'm only 18 and I've just described a heart attack. I'm 5'6" tall and I weigh 126. Could this have been caused by the bone being out of not "just described a heart attack." You have described a set of non-specific symptoms. All in the ball park of an impending faint. Causes for fainting are innumerable. This includes overbreathing, pain, and even psychic influences. Heart attacks are not very often associated with sharp pains. These are more often musculo-skeletal. You may indeed have a cramped muscle which can cause pain referred to other parts of the body. Pain in the back or muscles along the spine can cause pain in the front of the chest.
